

MONT BLANC ASCENT WITHIN 3 DAYS (ASCENT ONLY)

Reserved for experienced and acclimated mountaineers, this trip offers the possibility of climbing Mont Blanc within three days through the normal way of the Goûter.

Located on the French-Italian border, climbing the renowned Mont Blanc is a demanding challenge but one of the most beautiful mountain treks in the world. With its peak reaching 4810m, it is the highest summit in the Alps.

The first day is devoted to a quiet climb to Tête Rousse refuge (3167m) to slowly acclimatize your body to altitude, essential over 3000m. On the second day, we start climbing early in the morning, when the sun rises, towards the Goûter refuge. If announced weather conditions are better than on the third day, you will go directly to the Mont Blanc summit and you will return to the Goûter refuge to spend the night. If you didn't do it on the second day, the third day will be the day of the ascent.

Once you will reach the 4810m summit, you will be at the Top of Europe. The jaw dropping view of Mont Blanc peak looming over the spectacular mountain landscape to the horizon will be engraved in your memory forever.

Booking for a minimum of 2 persons is required for this trip.

ITINERARY

Day 1 From the Mont Blanc train to the Nid d'Aigle, walking to the Tête Rouse refuge (3167m)

Easy first steps for our Mont Blanc ascent. We start by taking the Bellevue cable car in Les Houches to reach the Tramway du Mont Blanc and enjoy the ride until the Nid d'Aigle (2372m). An easy hike under the edge of Rognes and a small passage on the north face of the Mont Blanc, enjoying a stunning view over the Chamonix valley. We come out on a snowy plateau at the end of which is the brand-new refuge of Tête Rouse (3167m). The afternoon is devoted to resting and acclimatizing, enjoying the magnificent view of the north face of Bionnassay.

Warning: cable cars will not be open for the first two departures of June, this will increase the hiking time (about 1000m of additional vertical drop) to arrive to the Nid d'Aigle.

Ascent : about 800m / Max Alt : 3167m / Walking time : 3 to 4 hours

Day 2 Going up to the Goûter refuge

After a nice breakfast at the refuge, we leave towards the Goûter corridor. You must follow your guide's instructions. Once you are on the ridge, you can see the Goûter refuge: a few meters more of walking and you will rest your weary feet before the big climbing day.

Walking time : 3 to 4 hours / Ascent : about 700m / Drop : about 700m

Day 3 Mont Blanc Ascent

Today is the day you will reach the top of Europe!

We wake up very early, even before the sun rises, have a big breakfast and we start our hike heading to the Goûter dome. We are moving forward, slopes are gentle and we take a calm and steady pace.

We then start to climb up for a few hours, finding ourselves between sky and ground walking on a magnificent, sometimes aerial, slope. Finally, the peak appears.

Here we are, standing stock-still at an altitude of 4 810 meter, open-mouthed and agog.

After absorbing the breath-taking view of the 360° panorama, it's time to come back down to the Nid d'Aigle, where we hop back on the Tramway du Mont Blanc. A final round of cable car and here we are back in Les Houches.

Walking time : 10 to 12h / Ascent : about 1000m / Drop : about 2500m / Max Alt : 4810m

ITINERARY CHANGE

Probabilities of ascending the Mont Blanc with a guide reaches 50%. Most fails are due to weather conditions. You must know that above 4000 meters, the wind or bad weather makes the ascent impossible or too dangerous. We try to anticipate as much as possible and to take the best decisions to help you reach the Mont Blanc peak, but our priority will always be safety. The high mountain guide that will accompany you knows the Mont Blanc perfectly and will be able to evaluate the risks of the ascent. At last, he is the one who will take the decision to do the ascent or not. We will confirm the possibility to try the ascent three days before departure. However, the weather may be different as the one originally planned (this is unfortunately common in Chamonix). In that case, the guide may still decide to change the program or cancel the ascent in the morning of the departure day.

FOR SAFETY REASONS AND TO ENSURE A UNIFORM LEVEL CORRESPONDING TO THE ONE ANNOUNCED, THE SUPERVISION AND ORGANISATION BOARDS HAVE THE RIGHT TO INTERRUPT YOUR PARTICIPATION IF YOUR TECHNICAL OR PHYSICAL LEVEL ARE LOWER THAN THE ONE REQUIRED. THE INTERRUPTION WILL NOT GIVE YOU ANY RIGHT OF REFUND OR PAYMENT OF COMPENSATION.

PRACTICAL INFO

Staff

This trip is supervised by a High-Mountain qualified guide whose main objective is to train you to basic technics and to enable you to complete a safe and successful ascent of Mont Blanc.

Food

Meals

- Your breakfasts and evening meals will be traditional and copious, prepared by refuges' keepers.
- Lunches : packed lunches prepared by your guide (please inform us of any allergy or diet requirements).
- Take some snacks according to your tastes before departure (cereal bars, dry fruits, chocolate bars,..).

Drinks

You will spend Wednesday night in Club Alpin lodge in the Tour village, it will be equipped in the same way as the refuges, with shared rooms and toilets.

A bag with your replacement gears will stay in the CAF du Tour lodge from Monday morning to Wednesday night. On Thursday morning, you will leave with your backpack ready for the three days of ascent, and the rest of your belongings will remain in the back of the car, unless you have planned to go back to the CAF du Tour after the ascent.

Budget & exchange

France is in the Eurozone. Therefore, the unit of the currency is the Euro.

Credit cards and debit cards are very useful for cash advances (but don't forget to bring your PIN number!).

Refuges often don't have EPT (Electronic Payment Terminal): it is best to bring cash.

Be aware of the fees usually applied when purchasing products or services on a credit card.

Always take more rather than less, as you don't want to spend your trip constantly feeling short on funds.

As currency exchange rates can often fluctuate, we recommend to check the following website for daily exchange rates:

<https://www.xe.com/>

Weather

The weather in the French Alps varies up and down the mountain chain. It is a mountainous region between 800 and 4000 meters, so altitude plays a big part in the local weather.

As you climb higher into the mountains it gets 1 degree cooler every 100 meters. It is the case all year around but other factors such as temperature inversions and winds influence the climate. The sun plays a very important role too. In the winter, when the sun is lower in the sky, some lower or north facing valleys are blocked from the sun by mountains for a large part of the day and are colder.

Keep in mind that weather conditions are unpredictable. Therefore, the trip organization can me modified for your safety.

Electricity

There will be electricity in most places you will stay. If you are scared to run low on battery, we advise to bring an external battery charger.

Power plugs in France have the particularity of being male and female at the same time : they have 2 prongs and a receptacle. If you need an adapter, please purchase it before departure.

In France the power plugs and sockets are of type E. The standard voltage is 230 V and the standard frequency is 50 Hz.

Local time

France is in the Central European Time Zone. Central European Standard Time (CET) is 1 hour ahead of Greenwich Mean Time (GMT+1).

Like most states in Europe, Summer Time (Daylight-Saving) is observed in France, where the time is shifted forward by 1 hour; 2 hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time (GMT+2).

After the summer months, the time in France is shifted back by 1 hour to Central European Time (CET or GMT+1).

Sustainable tourism

We do our best to offer trips subscribed to the principles of responsible and sustainable tourism. Our aim is to allow visitors to discover the many facets of France by taking you off the beaten path and getting you in touch with its nature and residents, while ensuring that your visits do not have a negative effect on its natural environment and people.

- Most of our accommodations are run by locals, thus ensuring that the largest part of the revenue generated through your trip will stay within the region.
- France is known for its exquisite cuisine. The art of cooking and the joy of eating are part of everyday life. Each region has its particular foods and flavors which we would like you to explore and appreciate.
- Water is a precious and rare good. Our team and those travelling with us are thus advised to use it with consideration and avoid excessive water use where possible.
- Please try to recycle your waste whenever possible, even though recycling may not be a well-known concept in all areas.
- Be cautious and respectful when hiking. Make sure to wear suitable footwear and avoid picking flowers, moving stones or lighting fires.
