

THE VERY BEST OF TOUR DU MONT BLANC

Often hailed as one of the most spectacular alpine treks on the planet, the Tour du Mont Blanc is a true bucket-list adventure

The Tour du Mont Blanc is renown for being one of the most beautiful middle mountain itineraries in the world.

With its Hollywood-style panoramas of the highest peaks in the Alps and its mountain pastures where authentic pastoral life still thrives. Every stage promises unforgettable encounters and vistas, each more beautiful than the last, along a route which remains accessible for any who dare dream.

This particular itinerary is a comfortable one: 3 star hotels, luggage transport and the finest meals on the circuit!

Our adventure begins in Chamonix as we head up to the balcony paths, meandering through the forests of the Aiguilles Rouges. Mont Blanc winks at us from it's reflection in the alpine lakes. The Bovine path takes us deep into Switzerland; Heren cows and geraniums at ever window. Up and over the Grand Col Ferret drops us into Italy, where nature has pulled out all the stops. Mont Dolent, Grandes Jorasses, Aiguilles de Triolet, Talèfre et Leschaux to name but a few of the celebrities. Courmayeur. A welcome rest day with a trip up Skyway to Point Hellbronner or gastronomical heaven at every meal in town. Refuelled: we head on toward the border again. Back into Haute Savoie we pass over the col de la Seigne, Les Chapieux, the col du Bonhomme, Les Contamines- Montjoie and end our journey back in Chamonix.

PRACTICAL INFO

Staff

Professional Guiding

Your adventure will be led by a certified mountain guide who will provide all the technical know-how needed for a smooth and safe journey. Your guide may adjust the itinerary depending on weather conditions or the physical ability of the group, always prioritizing your safety and comfort

Food

Meals

Picnic lunches are sourced from local stops along the route—mountain refuges, cheesemakers, and more.

Evening meals are served at your accommodation or in nearby restaurants.

We recommend bringing along your favorite trail snacks before departure—energy bars, chocolate, dried fruits... and feel free to bring local treats from home to share during trail-time aperitifs!

Drinks

Tap water will be available daily to refill your bottles during the trek. Drinks—including bottled water—are not included in the package. To reduce waste, please avoid buying plastic bottles when possible. If you need to purchase bottled water, opt for large bottles to refill your own and let your guide know in advance to plan a stop.

Although mountain water flows freely, it isn't always safe to drink. Always check with your guide. Use village fountains or private outdoor taps—only after asking permission. Your guide will often carry a thermos of hot water for tea breaks on the trail.

Accommodation

You'll stay in shared double rooms in comfortable 3-star hotels (or equivalent standard).

Single rooms may be available on request, subject to availability at the time of booking (supplement applies).

Transportation

During this trip, any short hops needing a vehicle are done in private transfers or by local bus.

Each day, you'll carry only your daypack with essentials like your picnic and personal items. Your main luggage will be transported by a specialized luggage taxi service.

Budget & exchange

France and Italy use the Euro (€), while Switzerland uses the Swiss Franc (CHF). However, most shops on the route in Switzerland also accept Euros.

Credit cards are very useful during travel. ATMs are available in most towns, but we can't guarantee every card will work everywhere.

Mountain huts rarely have card terminals, so we recommend bringing cash.

Be aware of any international transaction fees your bank may charge when using your card abroad.

As currency exchange rates can often fluctuate, we recommend to check the following website for daily exchange rates:

<https://www.xe.com/>

Tips

Travelers often choose to cover drinks for their guide. A shared "kitty" or tip pool at the beginning of the trip can be a convenient way to manage this (completely optional).

Health information & recommendations

We strongly recommend consulting your doctor well in advance of your departure to discuss any medical considerations related to travel and altitude. It's important to bring a personal First Aid kit and any specific medications you may need throughout your trip.

Please keep in mind that our journeys often take us into remote areas, far from immediate medical assistance. Be sure to read the itinerary and trip details carefully to ensure that our adventure travel style is right for you.

This trip involves travel at high altitudes. While most people can comfortably reach elevations up to 2,500 meters with minimal symptoms, individual reactions to altitude can vary. Altitude sickness is rare but possible. For personalized advice and preparation, we recommend speaking with your physician before your trip.

To fully enjoy this trip, good physical condition is essential. Regular endurance training is a must—jogging, cycling, swimming, or brisk walking are all great preparation.

We strongly recommend beginning a training routine at least 3 months before your departure. Aim for 2–3 endurance workouts per week (minimum 1 hour each) and one weekend hike of 6+ hours with elevation gain of 350m/hour.

Hiking is the best training for a trek!

Note: Knee issues are the most common physical challenge on this kind of trip—talk to your doctor beforehand if you have any concerns.

Please inform us of any medical conditions (allergies, asthma, diabetes, past cardiac issues, etc.) as soon as possible.

Hygiene in the Mountains

Water is often abundant, but not always safe to drink—refill only from designated potable sources. Always ask your guide. Bring a thermos of hot water for tea breaks—it's a mountain essential!

Weather

Weather & Climate

You'll be trekking in mid-mountain terrain, where temperatures stay cool—even in summer. In the Alps, the temperature drops by about 0.65°C for every 100m of elevation gain. Dress in layers and be prepared for sudden changes.

Mountain weather is unpredictable—you might start in sunshine and face a thunderstorm by afternoon. Always carry gear for warmth and rain protection..

Electricity

Most accommodations will have access to electricity, but if you rely on devices, we recommend bringing a portable charger.

Plug Info:

France: Type E plug (2 round pins + grounding hole), 230V, 50Hz

Italy: European standard (2–3 round pins), 220–230V, 50Hz

Switzerland: Type J (3 round pins in hexagonal pattern), 230V, 50Hz. Not all European plugs will fit—bring an adapter.

Sustainable tourism

At Altaï, we're committed to delivering unforgettable experiences while minimizing our environmental footprint. That's why we run small-group tours and promote low-impact outdoor activities.

We invite you to be part of this mission by respecting the mountains and following these simple guidelines:

Carpool or use public transport for transfers when possible—especially in the Chamonix Valley, which has excellent train and bus options.

Leave no trace during picnic breaks—bring a small trash bag if no bins are available and sort your waste properly.

Smokers: Please don't litter cigarette butts, especially in snowy areas. Why not use this trip as a breath of fresh air... literally!

Lift passes: If you're skiing, return your magnetic ski passes for recycling.

Wildlife: The mountains are home to many animals—observe respectfully and stick to marked trails.

Let's keep the mountains beautiful—for today, and for generations to come.
